

Project brief: Home-In-A-Box

Home-In-A-Box is a tiny house company that ships assembly-required packages to customers that contain plans and shippable materials to build a custom tiny house to the customer's specifications. The website should be largely text-based, detailing how the company works, how the shipping process and building process works, and what exactly the "home-in-a-box" is, as well as a photo gallery of successful builds and a testimonials section.